I Could Get Closer to You

"But Lately - I have noticed She just goes her way"

"Maybe she can hear me 'cause I always say"

"I could get closer to you"

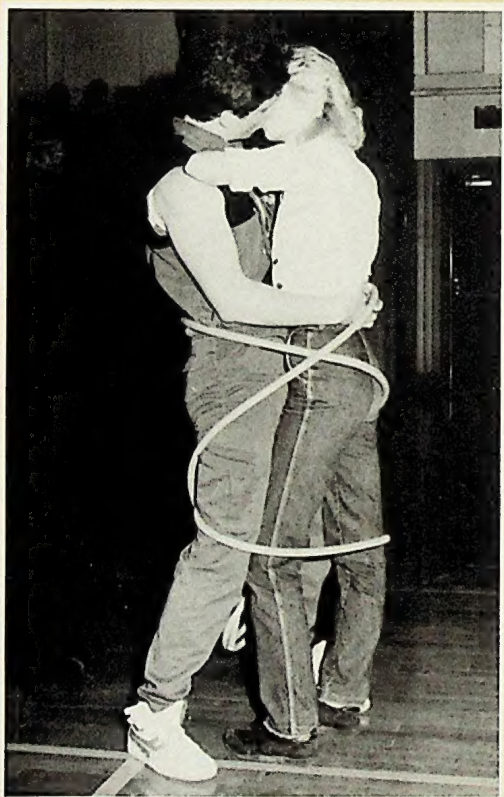

"I could get closer to you,
I could get closer to you."

Mr. B. Mack, Principal

A school yearbook becomes more meaningful to us as time passes. Not only are the many pictures valuable in themselves but also for the memories they bring back. Situations, incidents, activities and friendships are brought back and one tends to remember the most rewarding experiences. May this edition of the yearbook provide you with the most pleasant memories and encourage you to keep up your acquaintances and strengthen your friendships for a long time to come.

Congratulations to the yearbook staff and all those who contributed in making this an outstanding edition. Your sacrifices of time and energy will not be forgotten.

Mr. R. Evans, Assistant Principal and Grade 10 Coordinator

This begins your grade ten year. You have now begun extensive study and practice in your chosen career. It is a very exciting and important time in your life, and one on which you will always look back with fond memories.

The learning and skills you obtain now will greatly enhance your chances for future success and enjoyment.

Mrs. G. Melnyk, Assistant Principal & Grade 11&12 Coordinator

As graduation approaches and you look forward to leaving school and entering the world of work, I am sure many of you are leaving with mixed feelings. When you look back on your school years you will see them from a different perspective. All the things you have learned over the years will finally begin to make sense and you will feel closer to all the people who worked with you -- teachers, support staff, fellow students and parents. My special good wishes go out to all the grade eleven and twelve students because I have shared so many good and bad moments with you. I hope the future will be very rewarding for you.

Mr. Coggles, Assistant Principal and Grade 11&12 Coordinator

Your high school years are a very exciting period in your life. It is a time when you assume responsibility for planning and preparing for your future. You are making decisions which will set the course for many years to come. Accept this challenge and enjoy your years at W.P. Wagner.

Counsellors

Ms. M. Johnson, Counsellor

You are making a commitment to your career here at Wagner. As Winston Churchill once said "Give us the tools (vocational skills) and we will do the job." This has always been the case with students at W.P. Wagner.

Mr. T. Pearson, Counsellor

When you are associating with students and teachers during your days at W.P. Wagner, treat them as if you will be meeting them as friends, 5 to 10 years in the future. Former students are always coming back to see teachers who have become friends, to talk about their friends that they met while attending W.P. Wagner High School.

Mr. D. Melson, Counsellor

The more one looks, the more one will see. As well, the more one learns, the more one appreciates how much yet needs to be understood.

Fortunately for people of all ages, learning is a pleasant experience.

Student Services

Constable Rick Steward, School Resource Officer

Life can be full of little problems. However, your success at W.P. Wagner shows that you have the necessary social, academic and vocational skills to deal with many of these problems. Use these skills wisely and you will ensure that little problems do not become major conflicts.

Mrs. O. McEvoy, School Nurse

Living well is no guessing game; whether you look and feel well tomorrow depends on what you do today. It's knowing how to make the right choices.

This year, resolve to get your health act together one day at a time. A gradual "evolutionary" change is more likely to last than a revolution.

Mr. H.A. Potter, Cooperative Work Education Co-ordinator

Employers are looking for employees:
who are reliable and responsible;
who will be on the job every day, and on time;
who show a positive attitude and take pride in themselves and their abilities;
who are willing to learn and to improve themselves;
who have good work habits, and are loyal to their employer.

To see students trying to develop these qualities while still at school, is truly gratifying.

I AM YOU, YOU ARE I, WHO ARE WE?

I can look into your Eyes.
Wonder through the wheels of time.
Search the farthest waters,
Swim the highest clouds.
Roam out, above the crowd.

Search and destroy.
Search and destroy.
Tell me who you are.
Sing out loud above the crowd,
Tell me who you are!

Reach out far,
Toward a shooting star.
In search of who you are.

Banished lands,
Hidden scars.
You must know who you are!

Cry out loud,
To the farthest stars.
In search of who you are.

For the wheels of time,
Came crumblin' down
Exposing who you are!

Copyright, (C), 1986 by James Alvares

TO ALL THE TIMES:

To all the teachers at Wagner:

To all the times that we misspelled a word.
To all the times that you corrected it.
To all the times you guided us the right way.
To all the times you put all those RED marks all over my paper.
To all the times we gave you all those grey hairs.
To all the times that we gave you an unpleasant day.
To all the times we made you frustrated.
To all the times that we had a wonderful day because we were at school with our close friends and friendly teachers.
To all the times you helped us by smiling instead of screaming because you knew that we were sad and down.
To all the times that you helped us understand the questions of KING RAT.

But especially to the times we made you teachers smile when you were sad and down.

As we leave we know that there will be smiles and sadness. But most of all to all the times we had at Wagner.

As this year comes to an end we know that as each day passes there will be fewer times with the people we care for.

But at the same moment we look upon it as a relief. "How could anyone make it through such a place?" But we did!
TO ALL THE TIMES.

Norman Orthey suddenly left us in October of this year. It was a shock to all who knew Norman. He was a person who was quiet and liked to keep to himself. He was very shy but was liked by all who knew him.

Norman liked horticulture very much, he wanted it to be his career. In years to come we will remember our fellow friend, and classmate, as the person he was.

By Christine J. Meyers

Thank you, Mr. Chairman:

Good Evening Honorable Guests, Parents, Teachers and Fellow Graduates.

Tonight we are gathered here to say farewell. Though we say good-bye to W.P. Wagner High School, the many memories we have accumulated here will remain with us throughout the rest of our lives.

It was only four years ago (for some of us it was five or more) that we first entered W.P. Wagner; a place of new people and new beginnings; both somewhat frightening. The years here have taught us things that will influence us through the rest of our lives.

To some, the word 'graduation' means a long sought-after diploma. To others 'graduation' is looked upon as a starting point of another educational institution. To still others, 'graduation' is an academic end, a farewell to friends and to a way of life that we have followed during our school careers.

Whichever outlook we may have, we will always be grateful to the teachers and staff of W.P. Wagner, for the help and guidance we received through our years here at W.P. Wagner. Most of all we are grateful to our friends. For without our friends, most of us could not have made it through the four years of school here. It has not just been our school friends and the school staff that have helped us reach this milestone in our lives. We would like to express a special thank you to you our parents and guardians for your continuous love, patience and faith in us during our school years. Without you, we would not be the successful graduates that we are.

With our graduation, phase one of our lives, almost at an end. We are sad to say good-bye, but as our theme song states: "The Best Was Yet To Come" and we are all looking forward to a future filled with new challenges and new successes. In closing I would like to read (and sign for our deaf students) a poem written by Deborah Pescitelli, one of our fellow graduates.

Black and white gowns
All pressed and starched
Above all this were Pretty and handsome faces
Smiles wide and bright
For the years seemed so long
Yet when the special night came
It was all worth
The work and commitment
For now it was time to Graduate
A time for all our other dreams to be lived as

IS YET

TO COME.

And I truly believe the Best Is Yet To Come. Thank-you.

Student Leadership Program

This year our high school has adopted a new program in place of the former Students' Council. This Student Leadership Program, created by the Canadian Intramural Recreation Association, is the first in Alberta of its kind and consists of eight grade twelve students (who rotate a variety of executive roles) and four teacher advisors.

This program is designed to help participating students become leaders both within the school setting and in the community at large. The students develop a better personal understanding of their own abilities through the planning and carrying out of activities.

Student Leadership members meet once a week to plan activities to enhance school spirit. All details of an activity are planned well in advance to ensure an enjoyable event for the students of Wagner. Some of the major events that were organized this year are: Welcome to Wagner Day, Hallowe'en Dance, Christmas Dance and activities, Santa's Anonymous, Valentine Dance, Spring Dance, all aspects of Grad '86, Slave Days and special lunch hour events.

We, the members of the Student Leadership Program, hope that the students of Wagner have enjoyed the events organized this past year by the program participants.

Editor's Message

The Yearbook staff once again faced another year of deadlines, panic and the wrath of Mrs. Pawluk! Along with the trials of putting this book together we enjoyed meeting new people and learning all the facets of production of such a large undertaking.

We would like to say a special thank you to Mr. Witchl and Richard Dorcay for their photography; Mrs. VanderLeek and Mrs. Watson for proof reading; Mr. Robinson, Christy Robertson, Cheryl Heykants and Vikki Poorman for their help with typing.

We hope you all enjoy the many memories we have included in this yearbook. Good luck to the next yearbook staff (you'll need it)

I COULD GET CLOSER TO YOU - Wilfred N. Kozub

The girl in the shop who pours my coffee
Doesn't know who I am
She's always busy serving someone
While back in the line I stand

(Where I'm) Thinking - words to whisper,
Thoughts of my romance
Soon my turn is coming
I will get the chance

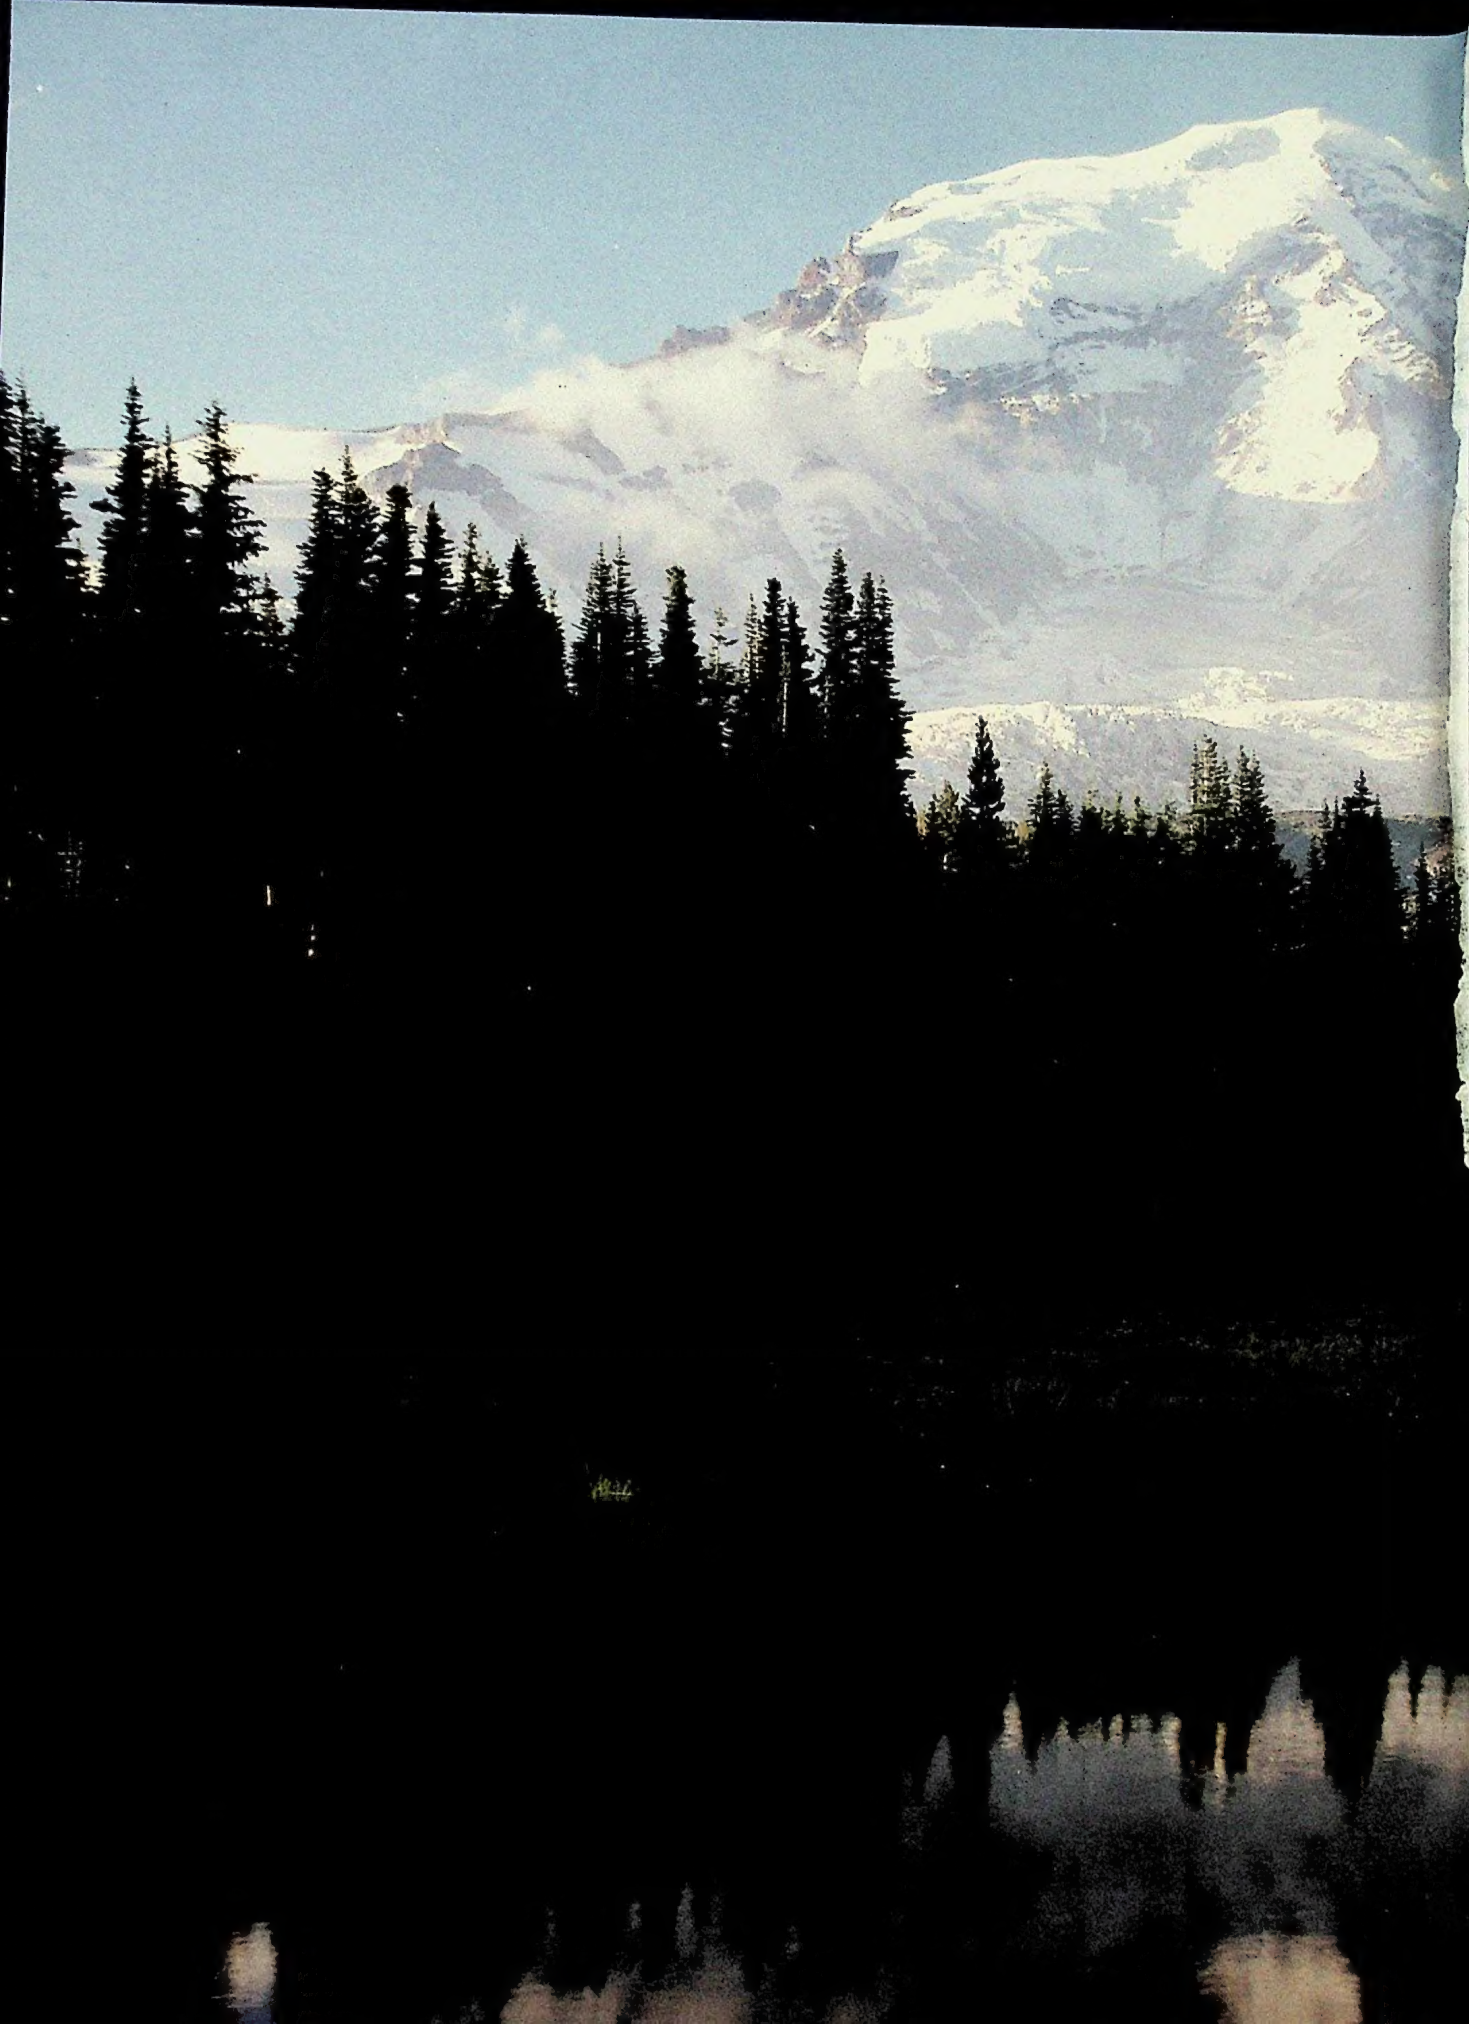

I could get closer to you, I could get closer to you
I could get closer to you, I could get so close to you

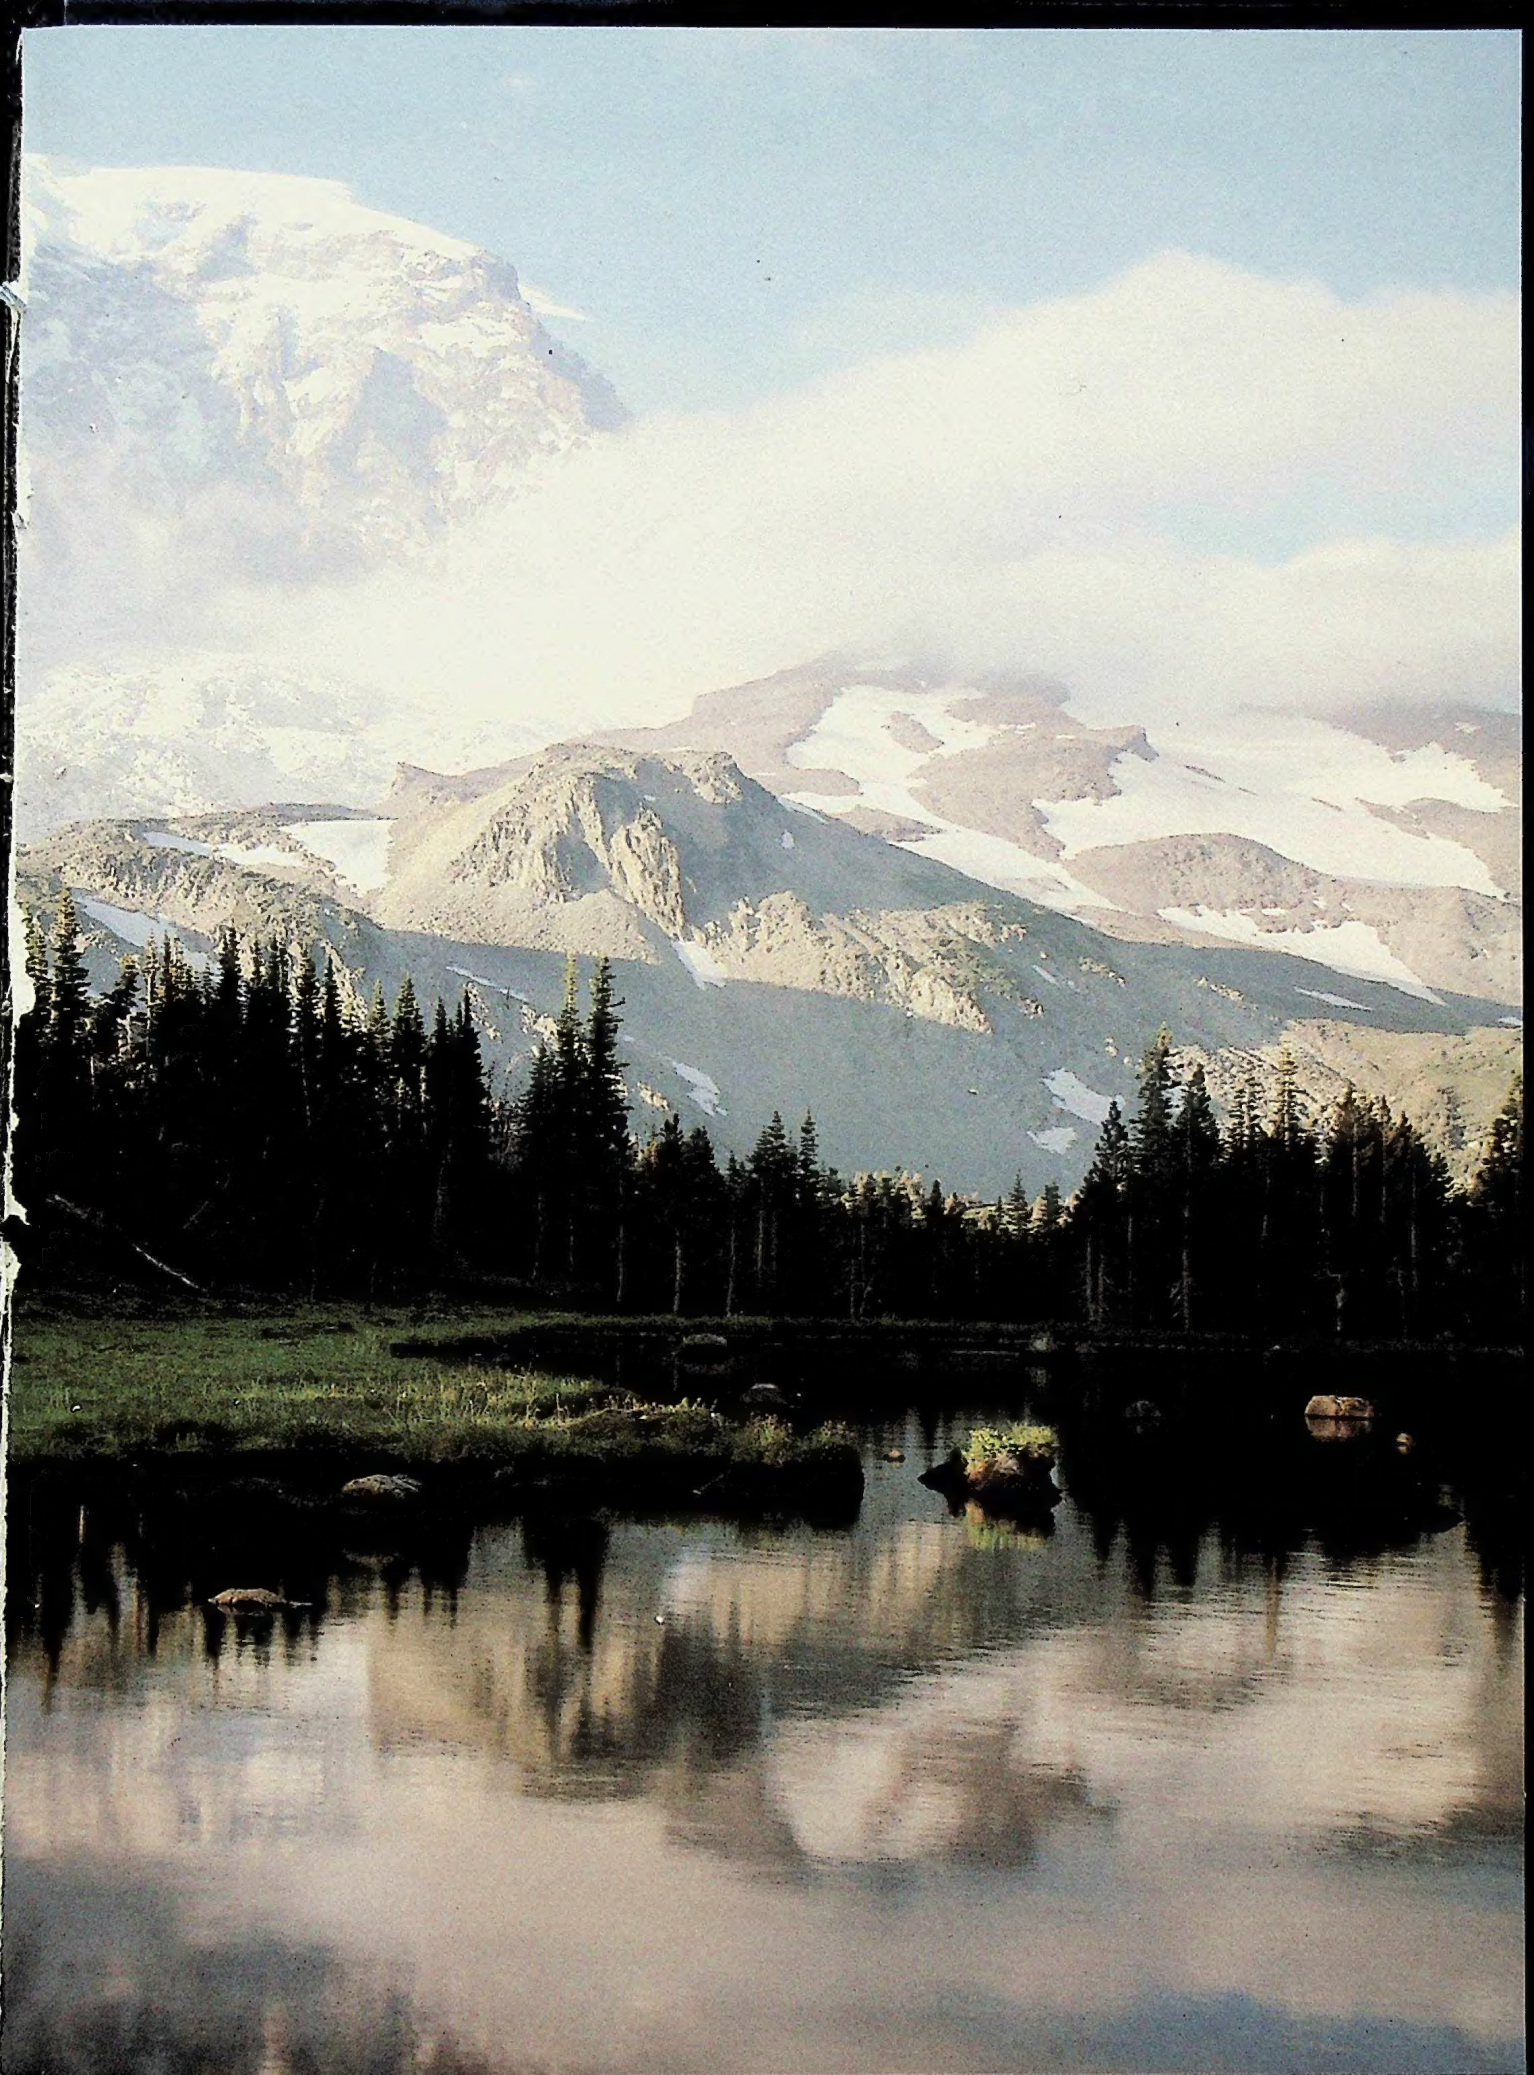

The girl at the stop where I always wait
Gets on with another guy
He doesn't look like too much to me
But he gets to hold her tight

But Lately - I have noticed
She just goes her way
Maybe she can hear me
'Cause I always say

I could get closer to you, I could get closer to you
I could get closer to you, I could get so close to you
